Based solely on the data contained and analysed within this report it is, in our opinion, unlikely that the property would be determined to be 'contaminated land' within the meaning of Part 2A of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 as it is in force at the date of this assessment.

Dated 11 June 2014

The risk assessment is based on an analysis of the most recent data from a comprehensive set of sources, including the Environment Agency, British Geological Survey, Landmark Information Group Limited and other nationally recognised sources of environmental data. The data sets analysed include current and historical land use, landfill, authorised processes and contraventions.

Landmark Information Group Limited has carried out no site inspection, undertaken any further enquiries or made any investigation of surface or ground conditions. Notwithstanding the risk assessment you should carefully examine the remainder of the Report and should not take or refrain from taking any action based solely on the basis of the risk assessment.

Landmark Information Group Limited is the leading provider of environmental reports to the UK legal profession. The assessment in this report has been developed in conjunction with practising solicitors and environmental specialists. For full details of the assessment see the Homecheck Professional Contamination Report User Guide.

Introduction

The Homecheck Professional Contamination Report gives an assessment on the likelihood that the specified property would be designated as 'contaminated land' within the meaning of Part 2A of the Environmental Protection Act 1990. The report also specifies a number of investigations that can be undertaken to clarify and potentially dismiss any risks that are identified.

The report is for use by lawyers and other professionals involved in residential conveyancing. It provides information within the key areas listed below that are not covered by Standard Enquiries of Local Authorities.

SUMMARY

The Summary section of the report presents enquiries in a familiar and easy-to-understand question and answer format. Where a reply to an enquiry is Yes, further details are given for each question in the Additional Information section of the report.

Unless otherwise stated the answers cover a search band of 0-250 metres from the specified property. Contact details for the data providers are given in the Contacts section at the end of this report.

SECTION A - Statutory Registers

This section of the report sets out information from statutory registers kept by the Environment Agency, local authorities and the Health and Safety Executive. It identifies any nearby industrial processes or installations which might have an environmental impact on the property.

The key areas covered are the existence of landfill and waste management sites, industrial processes regulated by the Environment Agency, the storage of hazardous substances, discharges to air and industrial installations regulated by the Health and Safety Executive under NIHHS and COMAH Regulations.

SECTION B - Site History

This section of the report seeks to identify both past and present industrial land use. Its purpose is to identify any land which may have been put to a potentially contaminative use.

Other Reports

You may also wish to consider reports from our full range covering both Flood and Ground Stability issues.

Footnotes:

Question A.1 The Landfill Sites and Licensed Waste Management Facilities have been provided by the relevant environment agency or Local Authority (where available). At present no complete national data set exists for landfill site boundaries, therefore, a point grid reference, provided by the data supplier, is used for some landfill sites. In certain cases the point grid references supplied provide only an approximate position, and can vary from the site entrance to the centre of the site. For Registered Landfill Sites, where the positional accuracy of the site is unclear, a "buffer" is constructed around the point to warn of the possible presence of landfill.

Question A.2. The Waste Transfer Sites comprise both current and historic sites sourced from the relevant environment Agency. In certain cases it has been possible to source site boundaries.

Question A.3. The Waste Treatment and Disposal Sites comprise both current and historic sites sourced from the relevant environment Agency. In certain cases it has been possible to source site boundaries.

Question A.10 The response to this question is based on details of consents issued by the relevant environment Agency to discharge to the watercourse.

Question A.11 The contaminated land regulations, enacted in 2000, give effect to relevant sections of the Environmental Protection Act (1990) in regards to contaminated land. There are three sets of regulations that relate to England, Scotland and Wales. They are Contaminated Land (England) Regulations 2000 (SSI227), Contaminated Land (Scotland) Regulations 2000 (SI 178), and Contaminated Land (Wales) Regulations 2001 (WSI 2197) respectively. There is also statutory guidance that complements the regulations. The regulations give power to define special sites, contaminated land and to remediate any land defined as contaminated as well as exclude and apportion liability for remediation.

Question B.1 Historical maps are a valuable and recognised source of information for investigating site history. They assist in identifying any previous potential contaminative uses or potential infilling of land which may have been carried out at a particular location.

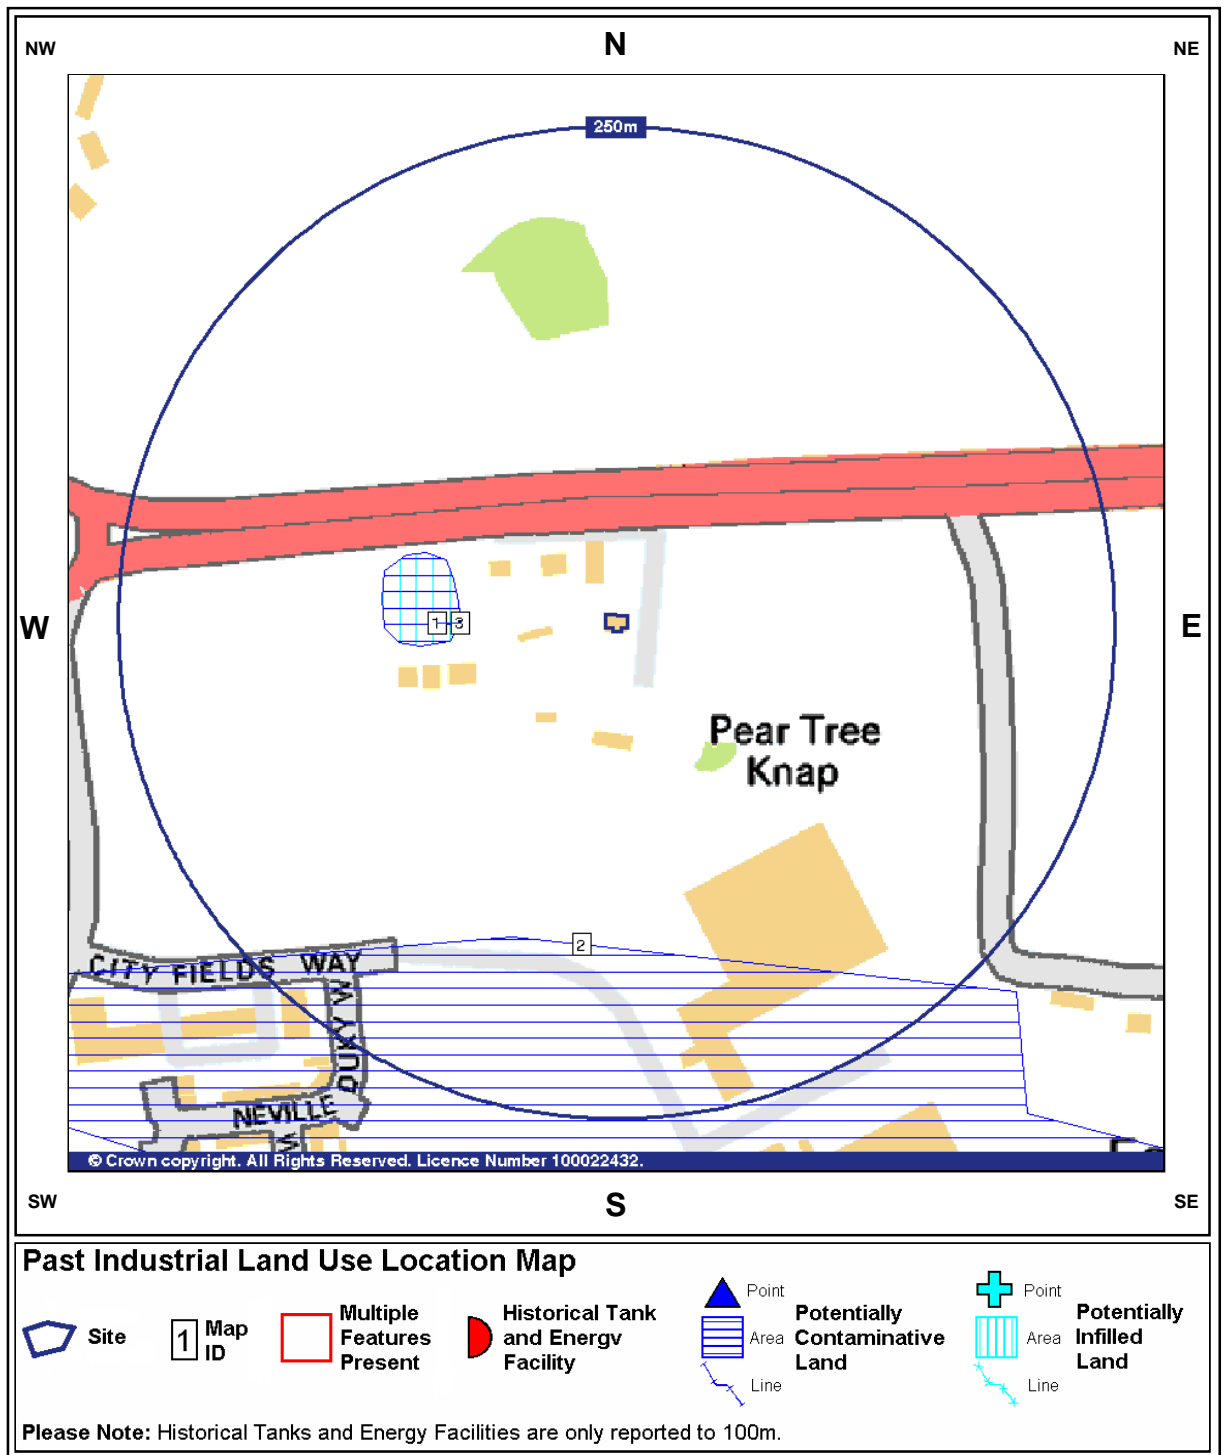

The Historical Industrial Land Use data used in this reply is the result of a systematic analysis of 1:10,560 scale Ordnance Survey maps dating from the 1880s, as well as selected 1:10,000 scale Ordnance Survey National Grid Series.

Evidence of past potential contamination and potentially infilled land is drawn from a series of up to six historic map editions. The first of these editions will be the earliest County Series maps, which date from between 1860 and 1890 and are to a scale of 1:10,560. The second edition of County Series maps dates from circa 1900, and the third circa 1930.

In addition, evidence of Historical Tanks and Energy Facilities has been identified from the location of text on 1:2,500 and 1:1,250 historical Ordnance Survey maps covering a period from 1943-1996.

Question B.2 The reply to this question is based on contaminative industrial uses identified from current published trade directories.
